President's Welcome

I am delighted to welcome you to Baltimore for the 40th Annual Meeting of the Social Science History Association. The program includes a wonderful range of papers, some focusing on the theme of “Pluralism” and others reflecting the broad range of innovative topics that characterize the SSHA.

Let me extend a special welcome to the many graduate students on the program and in attendance. You are our future. The Association is proud to fund the prize for the best graduate student paper and travel awards for promising graduate students.

The Program Committee, Mary Ann Dzuback (Washington University; Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies and Education), Kris Inwood (Guelph, Economics and History), and Simone Wegge (College of Staten Island, CUNY; Economics) deserves a special word of appreciation. They helped craft the call for papers and worked closely with the Network Chairs to assemble and schedule an exceptionally rich and rounded program. Thank you!

The Network Chairs are the heart of our organization. They identify emerging topics within their fields and pair them with complimentary studies from other disciplines. They help foster the dialog that makes the Social Science History Association the premier venue for multidisciplinary historical research. Whether you are new to the Association or a long-time member, I urge you to participate in the Network meetings on Friday afternoon. Much of the planning for next year's meeting occurs at these gatherings. They are your opportunity to become involved.

Finally, please join us on Saturday evening for the Business Meeting. It's been a busy year. Come learn about our Association's accomplishments and about the challenges that lie ahead. At the Business Meeting we will also thank those who have carried on the work of our organization over the past year and congratulate our award winners. Following the Business Meeting please stay for the Presidential Address and the President's Reception.

Enjoy the meetings but do set aside some time to explore historic Baltimore!

SSHA Membership

The Social Science History Association is an interdisciplinary group of scholars that shares interests in social life and theory; historiography, and historical and social-scientific methodologies. SSHA might be best seen as a coalition of distinctive scholarly communities. Our substantive intellectual work ranges from everyday life in the medieval world – and sometimes earlier -- to contemporary global politics, but we are united in our historicized approach to understanding human events, explaining social processes, and developing innovative theory.

The term “social science history” has meant different things to different academic generations. In the 1970s, when the SSHA’s first meetings were held, the founding generation of scholars took it to reflect their concern to address pressing questions by combining social-science method and new forms of historical evidence. Quantitative approaches were especially favored by the association’s historical demographers, as well as some of the economic, social and women’s historians of the time. By the 1980s and 1990s, other waves of scholars – including culturally-oriented historians and anthropologists, geographers, political theorists, and comparative-historical social scientists -- had joined the conversation.

New intellectual directions continue to emerge at the outset of the 21st century. Today’s SSHA incorporates a diversity of scholarly styles, with lots of crosstalk among them.

Information regarding SSHA membership is available at <http://ssha.org>.

SSHA Journal

Social Science History, the journal of the Social Science History Association, is published quarterly and is sent to members of the association. Submissions are invited via the online platform supported by Editorial Manager. To submit an article, please visit www.editorialmanager.com/ssha. Further information can also be obtained by contacting socialsciencehistory@mit.edu.

SSHA 2016 Annual Conference

The Social Science History Association will hold its 41st annual conference in Chicago, Illinois, November 17-20, 2016. The conference will be held at the Palmer House Hilton. The organization's long-standing interest in methodology makes SSHA meetings exciting places to explore new solutions to historical problems. We encourage the participation of graduate students and recent Ph.D.s, as well as more-established scholars, from a wide range of disciplines and departments.

Future dates and sites: November 2-5, 2017, Montreal, Quebec, Canada (Fairmont The Queen Elizabeth); November 21-24, 2019, Chicago (Palmer House).

Book Exhibit

The book exhibit will be located in the Atrium located on the 2nd Floor of the Hyatt Regency. In addition to The Scholar's Choice, which will be representing several publishers, SSHA welcomes the following exhibitors: the University of Minnesota (Minnesota Population Center), Cambridge University Press, Johns Hopkins University Press, and the National Bureau of Economic Research.

Exhibit Schedule:

Friday, November 13, 8:00am-5:00pm

Optional Tour

The tour, led by the Baltimore Heritage Society, is entitled:

Lexington Market and the Historic Westside of Downtown: Yesterday and Today

Pre-Registration Required.

Description:

From its earliest days as a hub for Conestoga wagons heading west from “Howards Woods,” to its hay-day as Baltimore’s premiere shopping district and its role in the modern struggle for Civil Rights, historic downtown has been a cross-roads for commerce and people for over 200 years. The National Trust for Historic Preservation has called this area centered on Lexington Market as one of the most significant historic downtowns in the country. Come and explore this area that historically has been the heart of the city and is now poised to make a comeback with Johns Hopkins, executive director of the nonprofit organization Baltimore Heritage.

Date: Saturday, November 14, 2015

We will offer the tour at two times:

- 1. 10:30-12:30
- 2. 1:00-3:00

The City of Baltimore
“City of Charm”

Welcome to Baltimore, the largest city in the state of Maryland and one of the world’s greatest ports. It represents the best in American history, natural resources, commerce, education, and industry. It is located just north of Washington D.C., west of the Chesapeake Bay and west of the Atlantic Ocean.

Baltimore’s metropolitan area houses over 3 million people in a 2,749 square mile area. Many of the residents work on the 45 miles of waterfront where ships handle over 50 million metric tons of cargo annually. In addition the area has an estimated 2,000 factories and is ranked as one the largest industrial employers on the east coast. Transportation and communication links the City to Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington D.C. making it a hub of east coast commerce.

Brief History

As a trading center in the colonial days, Baltimore was founded in 1729. Thomas Jefferson led as the first governor of the state. European settlers lived with Susquehanna Indians trading furs, tobacco, coffee and sugar. Baltimore suffered through many wars, embargos and the pains of a growing young nation. The Star Spangled Banner was written in Baltimore during the bombing of the War of 1812. Nonetheless, city boundaries expanded by large waves of immigrants from Ireland, Germany, Italy, and the Slavic countries.

During the Civil War, Maryland remained in the Union. A Baltimore merchant survived the times and in 1873 left $7 million to build a hospital and university. The name of John Hopkins has since become synonymous with advanced medicine and education.

On February 7, 1904 a great fire broke out in the heart of downtown and burned for two days. Over 140 acres and nearly every business building were destroyed. The birth of Babe Ruth, the development of Gwynn Falls Park, the fun of a baseball team named the Orioles, and a race park that became the Preakness Stake, all contributed to the movement of the city into modern times.

For information about what to see and do in Baltimore go to www.Baltimore.org.
